Although GDPR is a regulation of the EU it is relevant for the Bank for a number of reasons. Swiss data protection legislation is historically closely tied to EU regulations and its future amendment will be substantially influenced by GDPR. Furthermore although GDPR is an EU-regulation, under certain circumstances it may apply to companies outside the EU such as the Bank (extraterritorial effect). This Data Privacy Statement is addressed to persons with their domicile in the EU or the European Economic Area (EEA).

In this Data Privacy Statement the Bank would like to outline how it collects, processes and protects personal data about the following persons: (i) prospective clients, (ii) persons that have or are in the process of applying for an account with the Bank ("clients") and (iii) individuals or entities whose information is provided by a client to the Bank or comes otherwise to the Bank's knowledge in connection with services provided by the Bank to a client ("Connected Individuals"). A Connected Individual may include, but is not limited to, (i) any director, officer, authorized signatory or employee of a company, (ii) a trustee, settlor or protector of a trust, (iii) any beneficial owner of client's assets, (iv) a controlling person, (v) a payee of a designated payment, (vi) representative(s) or agent(s) of a client, (vii) a co-obligor under a loan (e. g. guarantor of a credit) or (viii) any other individual or entity having a relationship with a client that is relevant to this client's business relationship with the Bank. Furthermore this Data Privacy Statement shall also inform clients, Connected Individuals and prospective clients of their rights in relation to personal data collected and processed by the Bank. Please note: Which specific personal data are processed and how they are used depends largely on the products and services requested or agreed in each case.

Wherever the Bank uses "you" or "your" in this Data Privacy Statement, this is meant as a reference to a prospective client, a client and any Connected Individual as defined herein.

If the Bank provides separate or further information about how it collects and uses clients' or Connected Individuals' personal data for a particular product or service, those terms will also apply. Furthermore this Data Privacy Statement continues to apply even if client's agreements for banking or other products and services with the Bank end.

Please familiarize yourself with this Data Privacy Statement and also forward it to any Connected Individuals before the Bank is provided with personal data of such Connected Individual.

The Bank processes personal data of clients, Connected Individuals and prospective clients for various purposes in accordance with the provisions of the European GDPR and the Swiss DPA and only uses such personal data where the Bank has a lawful basis for using it. The processing of personal data is carried out in order to perform banking transactions and financial services pursuant to contracts with the Bank's clients and their Connected Individuals or to take steps prior to entering into a contract (e.g. with prospective clients).

The purposes of data processing are primarily dependent on the specific product (e.g. bank account, credit, securities, deposits, payments) and can include needs assessments, advisory, asset management and other financial or support services, as well as the carrying out of transactions. Insofar as you have granted the Bank consent to process your personal data for specific purposes (e.g. analysis of transactional activities for marketing purposes), this processing is lawful on the basis of your consent. A consent given may be revoked at any time. This also applies to withdrawal of declarations of consent that were given to the Bank before the GDPR came into force, i.e. prior to May 25, 2018. Please be advised that a withdrawal of consent does not affect the lawfulness of the processing of data prior to revocation of such consent. Note however that the Bank may still be entitled to process your personal data if it has another legitimate reason for doing so.

d) Due to legal obligations (article 6 para. 1 c) of the GDPR) or in the public interest (article 6 para. 1 e) of the GDPR)

Furthermore, the Bank is subject to various legal obligations, i.e. statutory requirements (e.g. the Banking Act, Collective Investment Schemes Act, Anti-Money Laundering Act, Mortgage Bond Act, ordinances and circulars of regulatory authorities and tax laws) as well as bank regulatory requirements. e) When processing Special Categories of Personal Data (article 9 para. 2 of the GDPR)

Special Categories of Personal Data can be processed by the Bank if this is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims of the Bank or if these data have manifestly been made public (article 9 para. 2 e) and f) of the GDPR). Otherwise the Bank only processes Special Categories of Personal Data with your explicit consent (article 9 para. 2 a) of the GDPR).

4. Who receives personal data?

Within the Bank those units are given access to personal data of clients, Connected Individuals and prospective clients which require them in order to perform the Bank's contractual and statutory obligations or as further described in this Data Privacy Statement. Service providers and auxiliary persons appointed by the Bank may also receive data for these purposes if they observe banking secrecy. These could mainly be companies in the categories of banking services, IT services, logistics, printing services, telecommunications, debt collection, advice and consulting, as well as sales and marketing.

With regard to transferring data to other recipients outside the Bank, to begin with, it is to be noted that, as a bank, the Bank is generally obliged to maintain secrecy about any customer-related facts and evaluations which the Bank may acquire or have knowledge of (banking secrecy). The Bank may pass on information about you only if legal provisions demand it, if you have given your consent (e.g. to process a financial transaction a client or Connected Individual has ordered the Bank to perform), and/or if the Bank is authorized to provide information. Under these requirements, recipients of personal data can be, for example:

- Public authorities and institutions (e.g. the Swiss National Bank, Swiss Financial Market Authority (FINMA), other financial authorities, tax authorities, criminal prosecution authorities, courts) insofar as a statutory or official obligation exists;
- Other credit and financial service institutions, comparable institutions and data processors to which the Bank transfers a data subject's personal data in order to perform the business relationship with such data subject (depending on the contract, e.g. market counterparties, correspondent and agent banks, custodian banks, clearing houses, clearing or settlement systems, brokers, stock exchanges, information offices, service providers, companies that a data subject holds securities in, credit/debit card processing supplier(s));
- Other companies within the J. Safra Sarasin Group for risk control purposes due to statutory or official obligation or for the purpose of outsourcing data processing activities within the J. Safra Sarasin Group mainly in the categories of banking services, IT services, logistics, printing services, telecommunications, advice and consulting, as well as sales and marketing;
- Joint account holders, trustees, beneficiaries, power of attorney holders or executors;
- Any independent asset manager who provides asset management or advisory services to you and any other financial intermediary or business introducer who introduces you to the Bank or deals with the Bank for you;
- Auditors or dispute resolution bodies.

Additional recipients of personal data may be those for which you have given your consent to transfer your personal data or with respect to which you have exempted the Bank from banking secrecy by agreement or consent.

5. Is data transferred to a third country or to an international organization?

In certain circumstances personal data may be transferred to, and stored at, a destination outside Switzerland, including locations which may not have the same level of protection for personal data as Switzerland. The Bank will always do this in a way that is permissible under data protection rules. The Bank may need to transfer your information in this way for example:

- To perform its contract with you (e.g. due to the kind of product or service that is used and in order to fulfil a legal obligation);
- Where enforceable under applicable data protection laws to protect the public interest;
- For the Bank's legitimate business interests (e.g. for example in the context of an outsourcing project).

Transfer of personal data to recipients in countries outside Switzerland, the EEA and the EU (so-called third countries) will take place if

- It is necessary for the execution of orders or a contract (e.g. payments and securities orders);
- It is required by law (e.g. reporting obligations under fiscal law);
- It is in the context of commissioned data processing; or
- You have given your consent to the Bank.

Where your personal data is to be disclosed to third parties domiciled in countries which do not have an appropriate level of data protection, the Bank ensures that where necessary it takes appropriate measures (e.g. contractual arrangements - such as the EU Standard Contractual Clauses / see Article 46 para. 2 (c) of the GDPR- or other precautions or justifications) so that personal data continues to receive appropriate protection.

You can obtain more details of the protection given to your information when it is transferred outside Switzerland by contacting the Bank in accordance with the information provided in section 1 above.

6. How long will personal data be stored?

The Bank will process and store personal data of clients, Connected Individuals or prospective clients for as long as it is necessary in order to fulfil the Bank's contractual and statutory obligations. It should be noted here that the business relationship with the Bank is a continuing and long term obligation, intended to last for several years.

If the personal data are no longer required in order to fulfil contractual or statutory obligations, they are regularly deleted, unless their further processing – generally for a limited time - is required for the following purposes:

- Compliance with records retention periods under commercial and tax law: this includes for example the Swiss Code of Obligations (CO) and its related relevant ordinances, the Federal Act on Value Added Tax (VATA), the Federal Act on Direct Taxation (DTA), the Federal Act on Harmonization of Direct Taxes of Cantons and Municipalities (THA), the Federal Act on Stamp Duties (SDA) the Federal Act on Withholding Tax (WTA), the Swiss Bankers Association's Guidelines on the treatment of assets without contact and dormant assets held at Swiss banks (Guidelines on Dormant Assets).
- Preservation of evidence in accordance with statutes of limitations.
- Compliance with special retention constellations, such as «legal holds», i.e. processes put into effect by the Bank in order to preserve all forms of relevant information when litigation is reasonably anticipated or ongoing. In such cases the Bank might be required to keep the information for an undefined period of time.

7. What data protection rights do you have?

Under the applicable data protection laws you may have the following rights: the right of access (as defined in article 8 DPA and 15 GDPR), the right to rectification (as defined in article 5 DPA and 16 GDPR), the right to erasure (as defined in article 5 DPA and 17 GDPR), the right to restriction of processing (as defined in articles 12, 13, 15 DPA and 18 GDPR), the right to object to the data processing (as defined in article 4 DPA and 21 GDPR) and, if applicable, the right to data portability (as defined in article 20 GDPR). The right of access and the right to erasure are subject to certain restrictions (under articles 9, 10 and 13 DPA and, in particular, 23 GDPR). Furthermore, if applicable on a person, there is also a right to lodge a complaint with an appropriate data privacy supervisory authority (article 77 GDPR).

Where the Bank processes personal data based on your granted consent, you may revoke your consent specifically granted to the processing of personal data at any time. This also applies to the revocation of declarations of consent that were granted to the Bank prior to the entry into force of the GDPR, i.e. before May 25, 2018. Please be advised that the revocation will only take effect in the future. Any processing that was carried out prior to the revocation shall not be affected thereby. Please note however that the Bank may still be entitled to process your personal data if it has another legitimate reason for doing so.

8. How is personal data kept secure?

The Bank implements internal technical and organisational measures to keep personal data of clients, Connected Individuals and prospective clients safe and secure which may include encryption, anonymization, access limitations and physical security measures. The Bank requires its employees and any third parties who carry out any work on the Bank's behalf to comply with appropriate compliance standards including obligations to protect any information and applying appropriate measures for the use and transfer of personal data.

9. Is there an obligation to provide data?

In the context of a business relationship with the Bank a client or a Connected Individual, must provide all personal data which is necessary for the establishment and maintenance of such business relationship and the performance of the associated contractual obligations or which the Bank is legally obliged to collect. As a rule, the Bank would not be able to enter into or perform any contract or – consequently - accept and execute any order without collecting and processing personal data.

Data subjects are responsible to make sure the information provided to the Bank is accurate and up to date.

In particular, provisions of anti-money laundering law require that the Bank verifies a data subject's identity before entering into the business relationship by means of a document of evidentiary value (e.g. identity card) and that the Bank collects and records a data subject's name, place of birth, date of birth, nationality, residential address and other data for that purpose. In order for the Bank to be able to comply with this statutory obligation, a data subject must provide the Bank with the necessary information and documents in accordance with the Anti-Money Laundering Act and notify the Bank without undue delay of any changes that may arise during the course of the business relationship. If a data subject does not provide the Bank with the necessary information and documents, the Bank will not be allowed to enter into or continue the requested business relationship.

If you give the Bank any information about another person connected to your account (such as a Connected Individual), you must inform such person about what personal data you have given to the Bank, and make sure they are informed of the content of this Data Privacy Statement.

10. Is "profiling" or "automated decision-making" used?

In some cases, the Bank processes personal data of clients, Connected Individuals or prospective clients automatically with the aim of evaluating certain personal aspects (profiling). For instance, the Bank uses profiling in the following cases:

- Due to legal and regulatory requirements, the Bank is obliged to take anti-money laundering, anti-terrorist-financing, anti-fraud and anti-financial crime measures. Data evaluations (including on payment transactions) are also carried out in this context. At the same time, these measures also serve to protect you.

- In order to provide you with targeted information and advice on products, the Bank may use evaluation tools. These enable demand-oriented communication and advertising, including market and opinion research.

The Bank reserves its right to further analyse and evaluate personal data in an automated manner in the future, so as to identify significant personal characteristics of yourself or to predict developments and to create client profiles. These may in particular be used for business-related checks, individual management, advisory or financial services and the provision of offers and information that the Bank may make available to you.

When providing you with services, the Bank may make decisions about you by automated means. The Bank will ensure that a suitable contact person is available if you wish to express a view on any automated individual decision where such opportunity to express a view is required by law. In such event, please refer your request to the address contained in section 1 above.

11. Changes to the Data Privacy Statement

You may request a copy of this Data Privacy Statement from the Bank using the contact details set out in section 1 above. The Bank may modify or update this Data Privacy Statement from time to time by providing a revised version to its clients or making such a revised version available on the Bank's website at www.bankzweiplus.ch/dataprotection.
