

Green Tech ESG Equity Fund

The Green Tech ESG Equity Fund invests consistently in listed and established companies that are addressing climate change with technological solutions.

Green Technology as a response to increasing environmental pollution. The world population, which has been growing rapidly since 1820, combined with increasing per capita consumption, is leading to ever greater environmental pollution. Against this background, a global reduction in consumer behavior does not seem very realistic. Governments, on the other hand, are increasingly focusing on stricter environmental guidelines. However, stricter environmental guidelines require significant (industrial) efficiency improvements or intelligent technologies, which is why more and more investors are investing in companies that offer sustainable solutions in these high-growth areas.

Green Technology is part of the solution. The Green Tech ESG Equity Fund belongs to the area of sustainable investments. The Fund takes an uncompromising approach to the ESG concept by only investing in companies that have a measurable positive impact on addressing environmental challenges through innovative technologies. Green Technologies include Analytics, Diagnostics, Water Efficiency, Electric Vehicles, Energy Efficiency, Energy Storage, Renewable Energy, Filtration Systems, Building Efficiency, Smart Logistics, Smart Transportation and Control Electronics, Recycling, and Hydrogen.

Aquila Asset Management AG as portfolio manager of the fund, together with Global Strategic Capital as advisor, launched the Green Tech ESG Equity Fund. Global Strategic Capital is a Zurich-based investment manager founded in 2013 and focused on sustainable investments.
